KILLALEE VERDICT IS SUICIDE BY POISON— HIS BROTHER IS MAKING AN INVESTIGATION.

Members of the Family Incline to the Theory of Foul Play.

IDOLIZED BY SWEETHEART.

His Last Letter, to Her Sister, Indicated His Intention.

F. J. Killaice of No. 2226 South Eighteenth treet brother of Charles S. Killalee, who ommitted suicide Wednesday near Sedalla. reached Sedalia yesterday afternoon. He arrived too late to attend the inquest, which was held in the morning, a verdict of suicide y poison being returned.

From the tenor of a special dispatch recived by The Republic from Sedalia last night it would appear that Killalee is not he had purchased arsenic in pills of onetwentleth of a grain each from another clerk, and in another drug store bought a box of morphine tablets.

"While being brought back to Sedalia from Flat Creek he told Fireman Alcorn, one of the men who saved him from drowning in the creek, that he first drank all of the solution of strychnine, and, as it did not seem to take effect, he also took the arsenic and morphine. Killalee was conscious up to the moment of his death. The exact words used by him in ascribing a cause for attempting sulcide were in answer to a question by Fireman Alcorn: 'I am out of employment, out of money, and my sweetheart has given me the cold oulder. I do not care to live any longer,'
'She was a good girl,' he frequently repeated, and, opening a gold locket which he wore as a charm on his watch chain, he showed the picture of his sweetheart to Frank Schultz and Fireman Alcorn. He died while gazing upon the miniature.

"The last letter Killalee wrote was not addressed, but was probably intended for Mrs. George F. Eaton, a sister of Miss Connelly, Killalee's afflanced. It was written in indelible pencil and is a beautiful specimen of handwriting. Its contents fol-

"From the evidence brought out at the "From the evidence brought out at the Coroner's inquest, it was the opinion of the jurors that Killaiee was temporarily insane at the time he committed suicide. He had carefully prepared for his death, He had arranged his scapular, a tiny cross and a photograph of a sister of charity in a package which he placed in an inside pocket of his coat. On the bottom of the photograph was reinted with a page 'Me Stor' et of his coat. On the bottom of the photograph was printed with a pen, "My Star." Only $1.20 was found in his pockets, together with a "flash roll," made up of lottery tickets. To-day the Coroner searched Killalee's trunk at the Salvation Army Hotel and failed to find any money.

"F. J. Killalee, brother of the suicide, arrived here this afternoon and was closeted with Chief of Police Love.

"It is known that Charles Killalee left St. Louis in company of two of his chuma, Frank Shultz, an Olive street drug clerk, and a man by the name of Murray, a former employe of the St. Louis Transit Company, and that the trio arrived here.

Said He Was Going to Denver.

"When they left St. Louis they told their friends their destination was Denver, Colc. Charles Killalee on Thursday afternoon called on his sister in East St. Louis to bid her good-by and gave her the photographs of his chums, Shultz and Murray, requesting her to keep them for him until he returned, or until he found a location. He told his sister that he was going to Denver with a party of friends, all of whom were out of work and expected to get employment there.

out of work and expected to get employment there.

"Killalee showed his sister letters of recommendation furnished him by the St.
Louis Transit Company which he thought would secure him work on the Denver street railway. He would not go to railroading again, he said, unless he had an exceptionally good offer, as it was his purpose, if nothing else turned up, to engage in the grocery business in Denver. He told his sister that he had between $000 and $500 to take with him and he considered that his sister that he had between $900 and $800 to take with him and he considered that amount sufficient to start in business. His brother says the sister did not see the money, but is certain that he had it in his pockets. She had been his confidante and had never known him to lie.

When the young man died in Sedalia only a little more than $\overline{1}{1}$ was found on him.

"Murray has not appeared, and Schultz, it is said, took a train out of Sedalia last night. He had been subpoenned to appear as a witness at the Coroner's inquest, but he did not show up and cannot be found.

"The story that Killalee had been dissipating has not been confirmed. No one can be found here who saw him take a drink of liquor.

can be found here who saw him take a drink of liquor.

"The theory that he was drugged and robbed has been advanced, but Killalee's statement to Fireman Alcorn that he had taken the poison himself with the intention of ending his life weakens it.

"Killalee has decided to bury his brother in the Sedalia Catholic Cemetery, and the body will be placed in consecrated ground. The funeral will be held from St. Vincent de Paul's Roman Catholic Church at 3 o'clock to-morrow morning and the services o'clock to-morrow morning, and the services will be conducted by the Reverend Father Healey. Later on it may be decided to permanently inter the remains in the Fredericktown, Mo., Catholic Cemetery by the side of Killalee's father and mother."

Sweetheart Greatly Grieved. Miss Julia Connelly, Knialee's affianced, is almost prostrated with grief over his sudden and tragic death. She passed a sleepless night, and yesterday her tearstained face and nervous condition bore evidence to the mental anguish she had suffered. She refused to credit the news that her sweetheart has passed from her life forever, and even when the information gathred by The Republic correspondent in Sedalia was read to her by symtion gathred by The Republic correspondent in Sedalia was read to her by sympathetic friends she sought to rob the dreadful words of their sting by indulging the hope that, in the absence of fuller particulars, there was a possibility that the wires had erred, and that the man she loved so dearly was still alive.

When seen yesterday by a Republic reporter Miss Connelly was still tearful and greatly agitated, but had apparently nerved herself to bear the shock of the worst. What distressed her most was the thought herself to bear the shock of the worst. What distressed her most was the thought that her sweetheart, who was a Catholic, had taken his own life. The intimation conveyed in the dispatches that he had been drinking heavily was an added pang, might it would appear that Killalee is not willing to accept the theory of suicide, and has asked the police to assist in making a thorough investigation of the case. The telegram says:

CHARLES S. KILLALEE. the Suicide.

"Coroner McCluney held an inquest this morning into the death of Charles S. Killalee, and the jury returned a verdict of suicide by strychnine and other poisonous substances.

"Killalee arrived in Sedalia at 3.39 last Friday morning and secured a room at the Salvation Army Hotel, opposite the City Hall. He made few friends while here, and seemed to be in poor health and despondent. He said he was looking for employment. Yesterday morning he purchased a solution containing one grain of strychnine from Lee Meyer, a clerk in Mertz & Hale's drug store, telling the clerk that in former years he had been a hard drinker and had contracted a stomach trouble, which only strychnine would relieve. The day before he had purchased arsenle in pills of one-day I was worried at not receiving one, as he never failed before to write me two or three a week when away from me.

No Reason to Kill Himself.

"He never touched liquer to my knowledge except when he was in the hospital suffering from the beating he received. The physican told him he thought a glass or two of beer would strengthen him, and Charley, who was a Knight of Father Matthew, received permission from his priest to indulge in beer for twenty days. At the end of that time he had recovered, and, although the priest suggested that he might continue the indulgence for another week, he refused, saying he did not care for it. That does not indicate that he would studenly take a notion to drink heavily the moment he left here, as has been reported.

"There is more behind the case than has been revealed so far. I am certain. I do not want to accuse any one, but I am positive Charley did not kill himself. Everything is against such a theory. He had no reason to do so, and every reason to enjoy life. He was a devout Catholic, and seldom missed mass. He was on his way to begin a bustness career in Denver, with every prospect of success, and had promised to send for me when he had succeeded. It is true his health was not of the best while here, but he when he had succeeded. It is true his health was not of the best while here, but he when he had succeeded. It is true his health was not of the best while heid out every prospect of restoring him.

"What, then, could have operated to cause him to turn to suicide in the short interval between Saturday and Weinesday?

"I do not believe he took his own life, and nothing that occurs will make me change my oplaion. At present my brain is too badly upset to allow me to give expression to any suspicions I may have. I must wait until I hear semething definite from his brother Fred, who went to Sedalia this morning."

Sister Thinks It Was Foul Play.

Sister Thinks It Was Foul Play. Mrs. Martin Whalen of No. 749 North Seventh street, East St. Louis, a sister of Seventh street, East St. Louis, a sister of the dead man, said: "Charley came over to see me Friday afternoon and lett after supper. He said he was going to Denver, Colo., in company with a man named Schultz, a clerk in an Olive street drug store, and another man, whose name I do not know. He had about $500, and I made a purse for it and sewed it in the inside of his shirt. I am certain he did not commit suicide. He was always jolly and was more so than was always jolly and was more so than usual when he left me Friday evening. He has always confided in me, and if he had quarreled with his sweetheart I am sure he would have told me.

"He told me that when he got started in business in Denver he was going to send usiness in Denver he was going to send or his sweetheart and these were almost for his sweetheart and these were almost the last words he said to me. I am positive he was murdered."

Martin Whalen, brother-in-law of Kilialee said: "Charley was too jolly a fellow and thought too much of this life to be suspected of suicide. He was in extremely good spirits when he left here Friday, and was in high spirits over the prospect of going into bugness in Denver. He said he intended to step over at Sedalia a few days. He never tasted a drop of liquor. I saw Miss Connelly Saturday morning, and she told me she was at the station when Charley left Friday night, and that he was as jolly as ever."

The arrangements for the picnic were made by Charles H. Madison, superintendent of the Rescue Mission here. He went about the city distributing tickets to the poor and telling them that they were invited to be the guests of his mission and of Russell Sage for a day, free of charge.

Nearly every livery team in town was out this morning and the 2,000 tots were bundled into the vehicles. On the way to the train they made the air ring with cheers for Russell Sage.

It took the longest train ever seen on the road to convey the children to Upton Lake, It was made up of ten cars, all of which were decked with American flags.

Mr. Sage also owns the lake and park where the picnic was held. The boats, the merry-go-round, the swings and the shooting galleries were thrown open free to the children by order of Mr. Sage and the day was one of delight for the little ones.

JAMES FINNESSEY AGAIN UNDER ARREST,

Released Tuesday for Lack of Evidence, He Must Again Face Charge of Dynamiting.

JOHN HOGAN ALSO A PRISONER.

He Is Suspected of Having Conspired to Blow Up the Home of Mrs. Heisler - Other Arrests Are to Follow.

James Finnessey of No. 3620 Cozzens avenue, who was arrested Tuesday in connection with the dynamiting of street cars and subsequently released, was rearrested at his home yesterday by Sergeant Dowdall and Special Officer Woodling on two warrants.

One of the charges is conspiracy to blow up street car tracks and the other makes him jointly responsible with Brennan, Northway and Schwartz for dynamiting the tracks on Maryland avenue near Taylor avenue on Saturday night. Finnessey was sweated last night by Chief Desmond, and it is understood that important information was obtained from him. John Hogan, an employe in the City Sewer Department, was arrested about the same time at his home, No. 3609 Evans avenue, on suspicion of having been implicated in the attempt to blow up Mrs. Emily Heisler's residence at No. 3750 Evans ave-

Chief Desmond refused to give the names of the witnesses in either of the cases, saying that he wanted to use them further in gathering information for arrests which are to follow. "We have witnesses," said the Chief, "who overheard Hogan make the remark, 'We blew up Mrs. Helsler's house.' I don't care to have their names made public until we can use them further, We have not yet applied for a warrant against Hogan, but will do so to-morrow. "We have several new witnesses in the conspiracy case, which will surprise Finnessey and a few of the others. We not only have witnesses to show that he was in the considracy to blow up the St. Louis Transit Company's tracks, but others who will testify that he went along with Brennan, Schwartz and Northway. But I don't care to discuss the case further until I get things in better shape. You may expect further arrests now at any time." Hogan became ill from the heat in the holdover last night and was removed to the City Hospital, where he is guarded by two policemen.

MOB FOUGHT POLICE; ROUTED BY RAIN.

Heavy Showers Put an End to th Race Riot in New York City.

OFFICERS AIDED THE WHITES

Fighting Lasted Three Hours Be fore Any Arrests Were Made-Fifty Persons Were Injured, Two Seriously.

New York, Aug. 16. Such a furious ebuilttion of race hatred as found vent in the rioting that occurred here last night, the outgrowth of the murder a few days ago of Policeman Thorpe by a negro named Arthur Harris, has not been equaled in New York in many years,

As a result of the disturbance, which raged from midnight until 3 o'clock and burst out in a flame of passion and violence at intervals until daybreak, there were about fifty persons injured by pistol balls, razors or knives, rocks and clubs. Of these one negro, Lloyd Lee, may not recover, and Policeman Kennedy is also seriously in-

Lee is alleged to have made threats against the life of Kennedy because he was the particular friend and associate of Thorpe, the murdered officer. Thorpe was the third white man murderously assaulted in the vicinity by negroes. In less than an hour from the time the trouble began last night the whole of the West Side from Twenty-eighth street to Long Acre Square, above Forty-second street, including Eighth and Ninth avenues, was in an uproar. Forty or more arrests were made.

Police With the Whites. The charge is made that police reserves, numbering 500, were in the mob chasing the blacks. No arrests were made until after three hours' rioting.

At 2 o'clock this morning the police had the riot in hand, although there was a feeling that danger was far from past, and a heavy police guard was mounted. Wher-ever there were negroes collected together they were swearing vengeance. Fortunately, about 3 o'clock, there was a heavy downpour of rain, and it is the opinion of the police that this did more to dissipate the mob and quiet the riot than a thousand men would have been able to do.

A dispatch from Washington to-day an ounced the arrest there of Arthur Harris, the alleged murderer of Policeman Thorpe. David H. Carr, a negro, charged with hav-ing had a hand in the stabbing of Policeman Kennedy, was held without bail to await the result of Kennedy's injuries. Lee the other negro charged with stabbing Po-liceman Kennedy, has not been arraigned. Two Seriously Injured.

Notwithstanding the extent and excite ment of the riot, but two persons, so far as known, were seriously injured. These were Polleeman Kennedy, stabbed in the left side, and Lee, the negro, with pistol shot wounds in his breast and a scali wound. All the prisoners interested in the riot last night, except Lee, were arraigned in the West Side Court te-day. A majority were fined $10; a few were held in bonds to keep the peace, several were discharged and Carr was held to await the result of the injuries of Officer Kennedy.

The scene of last night's rioting was strongly patrolled to-night. Several arrests were made. A negro, with a loaded revolver resisted an officer and was beaten into submission. A black man on a trolley car was attacked by the white passengers. As the police reached the car a stone crashed through the window and struck the negro on the head. Several women tried to stab him in the face with hat pins. He was res-

No serious trouble is anticipated. Lynching Narrowiy Averted. Lynching Narrowiy Averted.

Many fights between whites and blacks resulted to-night. Alex Robinson, a negro, and a friend were on a Thirty-fourth street car. Some one set up a shout as the car neared Eighth avenue that the negroes ought to be lynched. A man with a clothestic appeared and the two negroes were pulled off the car. The rope was thrown around Robinson's neck and, with fifty men and have pulling the man started for a around Robinson's neck and, with hity men and boys pulling, the mob started for a lamp-post. A mob was reported at Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-first street, better known as "San Juan Hill," at 10 o'clock. A squad went there and found a crowd of about 1,000 angry men, who were dispersed. The police then found Anton Steketesik, an Italian fruit vender, lying on the sidewalk, stabbed in the chest. He said William Cody, a white boy, had robbed the fruit stand and when he protested Cody beat and stabbed him with the Italian's fruit knife. Cody was arrested.

BRYAN MONEY BEGGING.

Odds of Three to One on McKinley Can No Longer Be Secured.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, Aug. 16.—H. G. Hemming of the Mills' building telephoned to Republican State headquarters to-day that he had $6.-600 Bryan money to place if the odds were suitable. 009 Bryan money to place if the odds were suitable. He offered to place the amount in one lump against $21,000 McKinley money, and then agreed to shade this amount $500, or take $20,500 against his $6,000. In small bets, however, he wanted 7 to 2 against Bryan. Chief Litterateur Luther B. Little, who answered the phone, said he himself was "shy" $20,990.40, but would lay the proposition before Mr. Odell, who carries the Republican bank roll.

WHAT CONSTABLES FOUND IN A FLAT.

Officers Tell of the Arrest of Wallie . Patterson and Mrs. Sue Ustick.

SHE WAS CALM; HE HAD A FIT.

Capsule of Sickening Odor Brought Him Around-Defendants Probably Will Not Go on the Stand.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Chicago, Ill., Aug. 16 .- Seated on opposite sides of the courtroom, Arthur Wallie Patterson and Mrs. Sue L. Ustick appeared not to see each other today during the hearing of the case against them before Jistice Everett. Mrs. Ustick, attired in black, sat in a corner by the side of N. B. Thompson, relative. She did not look in the direction of Mr. Patterson, who kept his glance away from her chair. This trial is a preliminary hearing on charge that defendants lived unlawfully together.

Mrs. Ustick held frequent conferences with her attorney and Mr. Thompson, After the last witness of the day had testified, Attorney Todd, for the defense, said he would probably not place the defendants on the stand at the present hearing. If they are not acquitted in the lower court, strenuous efforts will be made to present a strong defense in the Criminal Court.
When Attorney Frank Walker, for the prosecution, called to the stand Constable Charles E. Turk, one of the officers who made the arrest, the courtroom was full of divided as to numbers. Turk said that when he and Constables Gard and Neft rang the door bell of flat No. 2, 2945 Wabash avenue, on the evening of July 31, Mr. Pat-terson came to the door armed with a revolver, which he held threateningly. After a few words from the Constables "he threw the weapon on a bed in an adjoining room where Mrs. Ustick was lying."

An Affectionate Couple. "How was Mr. Patterson dressed at that time?" asked Attorney Walker. "He wore a loose-fitting oriental robe," was the reply. The Constable gave a description of the The Constable gave a description of the flat and of its luxurious furnishings.

"There were four rooms," he said, "a front parlor, with an alcove, back parlor, duins-room and kitchen." He then went on to explain that there were two beds in the flat, one in the rear room, which had not been disturbed. In the other, the witness explained, Mrs. Ustick was lying.

The witness said he remained in the apartments while his tellow-onicer, in company with Mr. Patterson, went in quest of ball. Mrs. Ustick, he said, claimed she was ill.

Such exciamations as "dearie" and "darling" passed between them, according to Constable Gard, who was the next witness. He said Mr. Patterson stooped as if to kies Mrs. Ustick, but as to whether the nesc. He said Mr. Patterson stooped as if to kies Mrs. Ustick, but as to whether the kies was actually implanted or not he was not able to state.

"In his absence." said the witness, "Mrs. Ustick told me that he was subject to fainting spells and instructed me to send for a certain physician if anything happened to him.

ing spens and instructed me to send to him.

"After awhile Patterson returned, and, taking off his coat and vest, sat down on a bed. He had not been there very long before one of his 'spelis' came on him. He tossed about in the bed, grouning and kicking. I overpowered him with difficulty, and Mrs. Ustick sent for the physician. While we were waiting, a colored woman who acted as a domestic in the house, appeared with some small capsules containing a liquid substance. She took one of these capsules, put it in a handkerchief and cracked it on a door knob, just as ice is usually broken in a rag. The odor emitted by the liquid was sickening. The comestic put the hand-kerchief to Patterson's nose and it brought him out of his spell, though he remained in a sort of a stuper."

Attorney Todd exhibited a capsule similar to those used in the room and it was broken for the benefit of the witness, who testified that the odor was the same.

The "Glory" Letter.

The "Glory" Letter. Attorney Walker then introduced the famous "Beautiful Glory" leiter and, after the handwriting in the fourteen-page missive had been identified by Dector Tuller as that of Mr. Patterson, Walker read the letter in detail, putting great stress on the words "Lovely." "Glory." "Ribbon," "Rizor." 'Resolve." "Repute," and other words mentioned frequently therein.

Samuel A. Neff, a private detective, told words mentioned irequently therein.

Samuel A. Neff, a private detective, told of watching the house day and night and of seeing Mr. Patterson and Mrs. Ustick entering and remaining for hours at a time on various occasions from June 13 to entering and remaining in doubt at a the on various occasions from June 13 to July 39.

Attorney Walker introduced in evidence the certificate of marriage of Mrs. Ustick to her husband and evidence tending to prove that Mr. Patterson is unmarried.

Detective Neff was followed on the stand by his assistant. Thomas Ryan, who said he had shadowed the defendants day and night since June 1. His observations were written on cards, one for each day.

As he proceeded, Mrs. Ustick joined in the laughter at his odd expressions, which put the courtroom in a roar.

Mrs. Clara Barley said she had been the housekeeper of the Walbash avenue flat. Mr. Patterson had made his home there, she said, until the coming of Mrs. Ustick, when he made a practice of leaving at 10 or 11 o'clock at night for the Chicago Athletic Association rooms.

Arguments will begin to-morrow morning Association rooms.
